

Reclaiming Youth Seminars

Augustana University, Sioux Falls, South Dakota

July 20-22, 2023

Join Larry Brendtro, Martin Brokenleg, and Steve Van Bockern, authors of Reclaiming Youth at Risk: Our Hope for the Future, and Mark Freado, a leader in the reclaiming youth movement, at the Reclaiming Youth Seminars! Network with colleagues from all over the world to share ideas, learn new skills, inform, inspire, and re-energize.

Grounded in resilience research showing that inner strengths and external supports are essential for positive youth development, the Reclaiming Youth Seminars offer practical skills for success with our most challenging children and youth. Explore timely topics including:

- Trauma, Resilience, and Thriving
- Social and Emotional Learning in Classrooms and Schools
- Strength-Based Treatment with Children and Families
- Positive Climates in Residential Care and Juvenile Justice
- Reclaiming Wisdom of Indigenous Cultures

About the Reclaiming Youth Movement

Since 1994, the Black Hills Seminars on Reclaiming Youth have been at the leading edge of strength-based approaches with challenging children and youth. Now this annual conference is held at Augustana University in Sioux Falls where the Reclaiming Youth movement originated. These seminars are sponsored by Reclaiming Youth at Risk, a non-profit research and professional development institute, in collaboration with Augustana University, the Resilience Academy, and Growing Edge Training.

Note: The conference and pre-conference will run from 8:30am-4:30pm each day.

Optional University Credit

Undergraduate or graduate workshop university credit in either Psychology or Special Education is available. Registration forms will be available at the conference, and the course syllabus can be accessed online. Payment for college credit is made onsite at the conference (please do not include with your conference registration).

Explore Sioux Falls

Discover the Historic Downtown Area.

Sioux Falls is the largest city in the region but has a welcoming midwest feel with shops, the Sculpture Walk, and unique bistros and restaurants for every taste.

Walk to Falls Park from Downtown.

This 123-acre park lets you see up close the city's namesake. Cascades of water rush over pink Sioux quartzite to make this an inspiring spot for a jog or walk. An open-air music venue in Falls Park offers free evening performances on the green.

Visit museums, art galleries, and concerts.

The downtown Washington Pavilion hosts live performances, art galleries, science exhibits, and an I-MAX theater. The Augustana Center for Western Studies houses arts and artifacts of Native Americans and peoples of the prairie. Tour the site of an early Indian settlement.
